Dear Mark:

Age and infirmities have taken their toll, so after much consternation I have given up my golf membership. An event so calamitous it warrants a tragic opera. This tragedy also calls forth many years of participation in the only human sport worth mentioning. Golf involves every emotion God granted man. Extremes from the mental climax of a successful swing to the insanity of missing one. For decades all of these feelings have been experienced at Lubbock Country Club.

It is with deep gratitude and appreciation I acknowledge the wonderful service received during this time. Ever friendly, courteous and patient you and your staff have provided the opportunity to enjoy the game while meeting strangers and developing friends. Your contributions to the joy of playing golf are inestimable. Memories and reflections abound with pleasant thoughts of experiences over the years. A special thanks to Donald Allen, Mike Raschke, Leon Von Rensburg, Alli Thrasher, Lee "Bill" Ferrell and Spencer Hill.

Martha and I will continue enjoying our social membership.

However if you see me standing on the range or walking a fairway just know it is an old duffer recalling the many joys you help provide. For golf is a game of life - but the joy of life has been to share it with you, your staff and fellow golfers.

Sincerely,

Bob York
